Sherborne@Sunfield; An adapted teaching approach for children with Autistic Spectrum Disorders
Led by: Cyndi Hill, Founder Member of the Sherborne Association UK & Trainer
Jotham Konaka, Teacher & Researcher, Sunfield

Participants will be helped to recognise their roles as the main teaching resource in the delivery of the SDM programme. They will identify the significance of applying a structured teaching approach, focusing on the use of visual cues, in providing the person with autism with the opportunity to learn the pre-speech fundamentals of social communicative skills. The emphasis will be on using simple and clearly structured approaches to help meet the needs of learners with severe autism at their point of learning.

DELEGATES NEED TO HAVE ATTENDED AN SDM TASTER DAY PRIOR TO THIS COURSE (Attend 20th & 21st June for £150.00)

SHERBORNE ASSOCIATION (UK) JOURNAL VOLUME 1

Spring 2007

Veronica Sherborne

"The lasting legacy of Sherborne's philosophy is not only the principles of movement, the acceptance of all persons as being valued, the importance of feeling at home in one's own body and the ability to form relationships but it is one of pure joy in discovery and the excitement of achievement"

(Marsden and Sparkes, 2007)

WELCOME

This is the new-look bi-annual publication of the Sherborne Association (UK). In this issue you will find details of how to renew your membership; a report of the International arm of the Sherborne Association (ISCO); an invitation to our 1st Day Conference; details of the new Sherborne research book and an invitation to its launch day; our new Soap-Box Corner and many other interesting contributions.
